

LINCing cancer patients and their families to legal, financial, and community resources.

CancerLINC is pleased to welcome Julianne Duvall as our next Executive Director. Over the next several weeks, she will work alongside Chris Williams to learn the ins and outs of the organization.

Julianne joins CancerLINC having spent a career in nonprofit organizations, primarily as a leader in independent schools and a nonprofit board consultant. She has served as a teacher, mental health counselor, administrator, fundraiser, leadership mentor, board educator, and executive director. Her decades of experience with organizational management and advancement, strategic planning, and nonprofit board development make her an excellent fit to lead CancerLINC's next chapter.

Julianne has an undergraduate degree in government from William and Mary and an M.Ed in educational leadership from the University of Illinois. She holds certificates in board education and emotional intelligence professional assessment (EQi). In addition, she is a Certified Fundraising Executive. She and her partner Alan enjoy traveling, art, live music and theater, and spending time with their five adult children.

As a cancer survivor herself, CancerLINC's mission spoke to her as a way to support others going through the complex life disruption of cancer treatment. She is thrilled to join the dedicated team of professionals, volunteers, and supporters to help advance the mission of CancerLINC. Julianne looks forward to meeting all the folks that make CancerLINC such a successful and special organization.
